The Catholic Register says the bounds in Denver, and the motto is that one year from now they will have 1,000 members.

Instituted but eight months ago, Ladies' Auxiliary 37 of Malden, Mass., has now a membership of over 400, a record equaled by few divisions in the order.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Chicago has arranged for a fitting observance of St. Brigid's day, February 14, when National President Regan will be the principal speaker.

Last Sunday the Hibernians at Bellows Falls, N. H., attended solemn vespers at St. Charles' church and then proceeded with the initiation of sixty waiting candidates.

Division 2 of North Walpole, N. H., is proud of having just received into membership two priests, Father Griffin, of North Walpole, and Father O'Brien, of Bellows Falls.

Acting upon the suggestion of National President Regan, a class of 300 will be initiated at Kansas City on February 2, and St. Louis will follow with a class of 300 on March 4.

The Boston Hibernian says the next Massachusetts Legislature will resemble a State or County Board meeting, owing to the great number of members of the Ancient Order that will go to Beacon Hill.

Don't mind organizing new divisions but add to the big and strengthen a few of the small ones already in existence, is the advice of County President Gahan to the Hibernians of New York City.

Adj. Gen. John Rogers, of the military branch of the Ancient Order, has about completed plans for three regiments in Massachusetts and one each in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island.
